The "Shelikoff."

FURTHER PARTICULARS OF HER WRECK—DETAILS OF THE SUFFERINGS OF THE CAPTAIN AND CREW.

[From the San Francisco Alta, Nov. 9.]

That there have been cases of wrecks of which no details have ever been obtained, where the most extraordinary suffering prevailed, there can be no doubt; but the case of the sufferings of those on board the bark Shelikoff, present as fearful and as heartrending a picture as any that has ever been placed on record. The circumstances connected with the loss of the Shelikoff, the death of the crew and the rescue of Capt. Hopken by the gallant commander of the Moses Taylor, Capt. Bennett, were given briefly last Monday in the Alta, as they appeared in the Hawaiian Gazette. This account, however, gave only the substantial points of the disaster and suffering, while many of the most interesting details were omitted. The following additional particulars have been obtained from Capt. Bennett and the second officer of the Moses Taylor. They will be found even more interesting than those given in the first account.

GALLANT CONDUCT OF CAPTAIN BENNETT.

On the memorable 19th day of October, when the sail of the wrecked bark was seen in the distance by the second mate of the Moses Taylor, this vessel had drifted a long distance out of her course, and thus by the interposition of Providence a human being was rescued from inevitable death, and the particulars of one of the many cases of suffering which must have been experienced by the seamen, given to the world. The disaster is not without its lesson also to mariners, and it should be carefully taken note of and practiced by them. The bark appearing to be in a distressed condition caused Capt. Bennett to steer to it. The Moses Taylor approached within twenty feet of the wreck, and as the Captain viewed it from the wheel-house there appeared no sign of life; indeed it looked as if no one could live upon it. His view of the bark was complete, the Moses Taylor standing within the short distance stated of the stern. Not a soul appeared to be on board. But what mariners term a "crow's nest," rigged on the fore-top cross-trees, attracted his eye, and knowing its purpose he concluded that bones at least of some of the lost mariners might be found there. It was constructed as a place where protection against the waves might be obtained, where from his elevated position the wrecked mariner might see and signal a friendly vessel to his assistance. And if the bones of the mariner remained not, then clue might be obtained as to who the Captain, crew, and passengers were—some record which might be of use, or bring things to some home of the fate of a lost one. These were the feelings that prompted Capt. Bennett. The feelings aroused by the sight of a dilapidated bark, and those prompted by the "crow's nest," were sufficient to induce any humane man not to pass the wreck without exploring it. How much more forcibly should they appeal to the feelings of a seaman, whose fate might be foreshadowed by what he saw. The waves dashed furiously over the bark; her stern was carried away, and through the opening the water rushed with the same fury. Her bow alone, or part of it, was not touched by the waves; and here the Captain saw a small piece of canvas, and his manly instinct prompted the feeling that there might be perchance some one there. The passengers viewed the wreck with concern and anxiety, but so improbable did it appear that a living soul could be there that they urged the Captain to proceed at once not waste time by boarding it. The weak manner may not on a suggestion of this kind, but Captain Bennett shrunk from the idea of abandoning an unexplored wreck—from the idea that he failed to discharge a noble duty, from the feeling, however faint, that he might have saved the life of one human being, and that he did not make any effort so to do. He at once ordered the second mate to lower a boat and board the wreck, in company with the third mate and a seaman. The orders were that the third mate should ascend the rigging to the crow's nest, assisted by the seaman, while the second mate should remain in the boat. This was accomplished with great difficulty. The sea was running high and breaking with great violence against the wreck. While the two men were examining the rigging, the second mate brought his boat under the bow where the Captain saw the canvass, and

CRIED OUT "BOAT AHOY!"

Expecting, of course, no response. The exclamation is natural to a seaman under such circumstances, and was made impulsively and without any reflection; certainly without the faintest idea of the result that followed. The signal was answered by Captain Hopken, who was sheltered by that little piece of canvas, raising his head. In doing so he knocked it against a timber, which threw him back again. The mate saw the man's head rise in response to the call, and not having the faintest idea that a living soul was on board, he felt that some spirit of the deep had risen from his watery abode. He trembled with emotion; he became sadly frightened, and his nerve was completely shaken. The Captain arose again; raised one hand in the air, and placing the other on his breast, with his eyes upturned, and perfectly unconscious that he was surrounded by men and friends, exclaimed, "Great God, am I saved?" The second mate, recovering his presence of mind, called the third mate and sailor down from the rigging. Captain Bennett having heard and seen the unfortunate Captain Hopken (but now the lucky), and supposing that there were others to be rescued, ordered another boat to be launched, but unfortunately there was only work for one boat to do. The emaciated Captain Hopken was lowered gently into the second mate's boat, and was placed on board the Moses Taylor, the noble prize of its still nobler commander, by whom he was warmly and tenderly received. While being taken to a state room he spoke, saying:

"HALLOO, CAPTAIN BENNETT,

Is this you?" He appeared to speak consciously, and realize fully that he was taken from the jaws of death. On board he received every attention possible. Fortunately there were two physicians on the Moses Taylor, the regular ship's surgeon, and another who was going to join the Nebraska. Both gentlemen gave Capt. Hopken their undivided care. Either one was with him continually. He was so weak that he could bear not more than a teasponful of gruel at a time, and the same quantity of wine, which were only given at stated intervals. It was not until the Moses Taylor was within half a day's run of Honolulu that Captain Bennett permitted two newspaper gentlemen who were on board to obtain the particulars which appeared in the Hawaiian Gazette.

This is the first part acted by Captain Bennett in connection with the memorable and heartrending catastrophe. It is one of which he has just reason to feel proud, and it should be remembered by every sea captain.

WHAT WAS FOUND ON BOARD.

When the second mate had secured the spirit which he supposed at first had arisen from the deep, he inquired particularly if there were others on board, but was told there was not—that they had all perished one by one. Knowing his state of mind his word was not relied on, and a diligent search was made, but no one was found. The decks were three feet under water, except where the Captain lay, and no other part of the brig afforded protection for life. In the "crow's nest" a carpet bag was found which contained some clothing and fish. The captain had a small canvas bag which contained some money and in which there was a sealed vial. This contained a paper on which the details of the disaster had been written. It was placed beside him where he lay and was intended as a record of the disaster.

DETAILS BY CAPTAIN HOPKEN.

During the journey to Honolulu Captain Hopken gave Captain Bennett many particulars relating to the disaster, which by the courtesy of that gentleman we are enabled to give to the readers of the Alta. When the Shelekoff, on the 3d of July, in a cyclone, became disabled by having her rudder carried away, the Captain, as already stated, rigged ropes from the wheel through blocks, so as to steer from the "crow's nest," as it was impossible to remain on deck. In this way the ship was steered for sixty-five days. The Captain's idea was to work to the Sandwich Islands. He relied principally upon the position of the stars by night to steer his course. In the daytime the sun was no guide, and even at night in some cases he was compelled to steer without the assistance of the stars on account of heavy fogs. After having spent sixty-five days in the rigging, subsisting on fish and depending on the moisture of the sails for drink, they came on deck and improvised a place of shelter in the forecastle by spreading a top-gallant sail as an awning. The provisions taken from the wreck to the "crow's nest" having been exhausted, the rim wire of tin vessels was converted into hooks, and with these the crew fished, thus obtaining a fresh supply of food. The fish was dried and taken to the rigging.

HOW THEY GOT WATER.

They had to depend entirely for their supply upon the moisture of the atmosphere. Sheepskins, used as chafing gear, were hung from the rigging, to receive dew or rain. These skins were divided between those on board; that is, each man had his particular place to suck the water off, and he was not permitted to encroach upon his neighbor's portion. In this way they managed to moisten their parched lips, until one by one they became delirious and jumped overboard or died of exhaustion.

VESSELS SEEN.

From the date of the wreck until the friendly visit of the Moses Taylor, four vessels were seen, but three were very far off. These could only be noticed in the distance. About seven to nine days before the Captain was rescued, and while there were still eight living souls on board, a bark drew near the wreck and stopped for a few minutes, but went away again on her course. While she lay in front of the wreck the men raised themselves on their knees, waved their handkerchiefs and pieces of canvas, and made all the signals in their power to attract attention. They were unable to halloo, and the result was that they were left to their fate. The Captain could see the letters composing the bark's name, which he says was a short one; could see a new spanker; saw parties moving on deck, and saw a lady sitting near the rail. This was in broad daylight, and Captain Hopken is at a loss to divine the meaning of the conduct of the Captain of the bark. His conduct was not humane, and if known he should be clubbed out of his position. The feelings of the wrecked and forsaken men on the bark turned away and went on her course were heartrending. Almost exhausted by starvation, and despairing of any relief, they had laid down calmly to meet their fate, when this harbinger of relief, as they fondly and really believed her to be, came alongside. Their hopes revived, and their failing spirits gave way to cheer. They raised themselves, and as they viewed the bark and saw her stop they believed a boat would be lowered, and that they would be rescued. But when this last hope disappeared, what must have been their condition? As the bark spread her sail and was wafted away from the scene of the wreck the men's spirits fell even lower, and never rose until they took their final departure. The first mate of the Shelekoff died two or three days after the disaster, and the others, except the eight on board when visited by the bark, died in September. Some died on the decks, and some became delirious and jumped into the ocean. Some days before his rescue, Capt. Hopken rolled the dead bodies of three men into the sea.

FATE OF ASHLEY CRANE.

Captain Hopken and Ashley Crane, three days before the arrival of the Moses Taylor, came down from the "crow's nest," having experienced the most intense cold. They left after them their supply of fish, with the intention of returning, but when they reached the deck they became so weak that they were unable to ascend again, and were thus left without food or any means of obtaining it. It had not rained for nine days, and during that time they never moistened their lips.

The night before the Moses Taylor arrived, a slight shower of rain fell, and a tin cup of water was obtained. Captain Hopken confidently believed that Mr. Crane would have given him some, but he drank the whole ravenously. He then threw the cup on deck, walked hurriedly away, and was not seen by more. It is supposed that the water made him delirious, and that he walked overboard and found a grave in the Pacific.

A DREAM.

Very frequently as Captain Hopken lay asleep or partly unconscious on deck or in the rigging, he would dream he heard the cry, "Brig, ahoy!" and raising himself he would answer, "Am I saved?" Casting his eyes wistfully around, he looked anxiously each time for relief which he dreamed was at hand, but only to be disappointed. Each time his spirits became lower and his hopes to be saved grew less.

Before leaving the Moses Taylor, Captain Bennett asked him if he heard the noise of the steamer or the boat, or the men on board. He said he did not, but fancied he heard somebody hallo "Brig, ahoy!" This, said he, I tried to forget, because I had often in my sleep, and when in a semi-conscious state, thought I heard the friendly call. Each time I raised myself up, looked around and beyond to the horizon, but only to be disappointed and to have the realization of that fate which seemed inevitable! Until I saw the boat's crew and the steamer, I did not believe my senses, and even then I doubted that I was not dreaming. Having been so often disappointed and being more emaciated and worn out, I thought, when relief was near, that it was but a dream. Tired of hoping, and believing myself lost, I prepared a draught of blue stone and ink, which I intended should end my disappointments and stop my dreams.

It is a glorious thing to know that his dream has been realized, that a noble and gallant Captain, nerved by the most exalted feelings of man, has been made the instrument, in the hands of an All-wise Providence, to rescue him from his terrible position. And the worthy conduct of Capt. Bennett will, let us hope, be followed by others—that no vessel at sea, no matter how forlorn her condition, will be calmly passed by; but that, as in this case, such vessels be thoroughly examined, that the dream of even one of God's creatures may be realized.

In consequence of the numerous frauds committed by forged checks, some of the Victoria bankers have adopted the custom of sending with their letter of advice a photograph of the person in whose favor the credit has been issued, and to stop payment when the person who presents himself at the bank does not resemble the picture. If this practice were to become universal, some of our large banking houses would soon have a portrait gallery of so trifling interest; and the object of preventing fraud could be well attained.

The Mobile Register reiterates its declaration that the Democracy would deserve to fall in 1872 if they should adopt the principles of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments.

OREGON.

The Rails Fay case is before the Circuit Court of Jackson County. Probably nothing will come of it.

The wife of H. K. Hanna, District Attorney for the First Judicial District, died at Jacksonville a few days ago.

A young man named D. E. Rice has been arrested at Salem, charged with appropriating to his own use his employer's money. He was clerk in a store, and generously divided with the proprietor receipts for sales.

From the Walla Walla Union: We learn by a private letter, written to a party in this town, that a few days since a young man by the name of Jesse Alberson shot, and it is thought fatally wounded, Pierce Mahaffey, at La Grande. No particulars given, except that the two got into a "muss," when Mahaffey drew a knife and Alberson drew his pistol and fired, the ball striking the wrist passed up to the elbow, and from there into the side of Mahaffey.

THE TERRITORIES.

Considerable settlements are being formed north of Snake river beyond Walla Walla.

Olympia papers are still exhorting the people of that place to make renewed exertions to get the terminus.

The Washington Territory Legislature has passed an act for the preservation of fish in fresh water lakes and streams.

A law has been enacted in Washington Territory providing that druggists shall not sell poisons except by prescription of a physician, or to a respectable person of full age, and to keep a register thereof.

The Walla Walla Statesman learns that a steam saw mill has been purchased in Portland for the use of the Walla Walla Railroad Company, and that it is to be delivered at the landing before the close of navigation. This looks as though the company means business.

The Western Union Telegraph Company are about to erect a line of telegraph from Steilacoom to Tacoma and another to Tulalip. At the rate at which they are extending their lines, this enterprising company will soon cover the Sound country with a network of wire.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Walla Walla railroad, held on the 7th inst., D. C. Baker, L. T. Reese, S. Truax, J. F. Boyer and B. L. Sharpstein were elected Trustees for the ensuing year; D. S. Baker, President; S. Truax, Vice President. The Trustees were to determine the route last week. A preliminary survey has been made on the different routes below the Touchet. The surve

The Proposition to Give Up the Democratic Ship.

As a general rule the Democratic party has not been particularly pleased with the result of its new departure venture,—it having lost in every State in which it attempted to give those views effect. The most independent journals connected with the party have freely stated that the failures were attributable to the lack of confidence on the part of the people in the sincerity of the Democracy. Whatever the reason the elections went steadily against them. Added to this, their own people were divided respecting the new utterances. So the elections being over, we hear of a proposition not only to abandon the new departure, but also to refuse to nominate even a Presidential candidate,—leaving it to the Republican party to get up such troubles in its own ranks as it may choose. The proposers of this beautiful idea have a belief that the result of their enterprise will be to gain strength and power.

We have already expressed an opinion that such a plan, carried into effect, would occasion the disintegration of the Democratic organization. Its first effect will be to take from such Democrats as cling to their party through thick and thin an opportunity for casting their votes at all. If the withdrawal of the party from direct participation in the Presidential contest has any force or value at all, it will be found in the withholding of Democratic votes from the candidates that may be nominated by the Republican organization. We do not believe the masses among the Democracy are willing to be thus temporarily disfranchised. The very fact of doing it, and thus taking from them even the powers of protest, which their votes would have, even when they represent only a small minority, will prove extremely distasteful to the rank and file, as well as to the more solid Democrats of the country.

Nor can it be satisfactorily shown that the Democratic party will not be no more than the Republican by such a move. It is assuming a great deal to affirm that the R. . . party will perform the part of the Kilkenny cats. Even were these disorganizing elements at work within the party, all political experience goes to show that the probabilities are rather in favor of their fusing, than toward their accomplishing the ruin of the party. The Democratic party out of the way, and the Republican Presidential candidate nominated, the probabilities are rather in favor of a quiet, listless campaign, then of an interesting contest in the party itself. True, the existence of a Democratic organization tends to keep the Republican party together,—but it does not follow that the withdrawal of that party from participation in political affairs would be necessarily followed by the falling apart of the Republican party.

But is it wise to assume that the Democracy can retire, like a bear in winter, and live upon itself for a year? Has it anything to live upon? All the memories most dear to Democrats have been either obscured or obliterated during the past decade. They cannot break through the mists of rebellion to the sunshine of the days when slavery was glorious, and the autocrats of the South were the joy of Washington society. Hence it will not be easy to stand quietly by and wait the developments of a campaign. The mass of their party will not wait on a year's events. They will unite with the party in power, and vote with them. This done and the probabilities are that they will remain with it. True, there are advantages and disadvantages on both sides. But the sum of advantages is clearly on the side of the Democracy promising its organization. It may need to modify its views, and to be less stringent than it has been in regard to its candidates. This done and the Democracy may rise from its lethargy. It may not rise to power, but it will preserve its organization.

Railroad Fever.

A gentleman just arrived overland from San Francisco, places in our possession of some definite information relating to the progress of the two railroads which are to connect Oregon and California—Portland and Sacramento. The California and Oregon Railroad Company is building northward from Sacramento. Their road is completed and trains are running daily to Tehama, and by the 25th instant, will run to Red Bluffs, a distance of 135 miles. Work is being done on the line for several miles this side of Red Bluffs, though not a large force is now engaged, owing to the advanced state of the season. It is not expected that the road will be constructed this year further north than Red Bluffs, but active operations will be resumed in the spring.

On the Oregon end of the line, the road is finished to Eugene City, and daily trains are running to that point. Construction trains are running to a point 12 miles south of Eugene, and the roadbed, including trestle work, is completed for thirty miles south of Eugene. The track itself would have been laid that far by this date, but for the failure to arrive of iron now on the way. Grading work is being prosecuted at various points on the line, well on towards Roseburg.

After the 25th inst.—ten days—the travel between Portland and Sacramento will be by rail 258 miles—123 miles on the Oregon and 135 miles on the California end—and about 345 miles by stage, the connections being made at Eugene and Red Bluffs. The time made between the initial railroad points has been four days and a half, till within a few days—since the setting in of the winter rains. It is now, and will probably remain through the winter, five and a half days. Next year, we shall expect to see the gap between the two roads shortened to two or two and a half days stage travel, when the trip from Portland to Sacramento can be made inside of eighty-four hours, or in about the average steamer time.

The Cincinnati Courier (German) is not favorably impressed with Carl Schurz and his third party movement. It says of those who signed the new departure manifesto, that they will keep aloof from it. German Republicans are not to be led into the Democratic camp by Carl Schurz and other goreheads. They stand firmly by Republican principles.

A Ku Klux cotemporary complains of "martial law in time of peace." Its idea of peace is scourging blacks, burning churches and school houses, and murdering, with no law of any kind to punish the criminals. The Democracy break law, outrage justice, cut throats, murder innocent people, and call it peace!

The Chicago Times "goes for" the "passive policy" recommended to Democrats in a manner which is cruel. It calls it "a crazy departure." It proposes that the Democracy shall run no "sore-headed Radical."

Another Pacific Railroad.

For a long time the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company have been endeavoring to get a through line to the Pacific coast. This Company has extended its conquests and acquisitions in all directions, till it is now by far the most powerful corporation in America. Since it obtained control of the Union Pacific its purpose has seemed to be to build a line from Salt Lake to the Pacific coast. But it has now undertaken another enterprise. The New York Commercial Bulletin learns that it has taken hold of the Cairo and Fulton Railroad, with a view of making a through line of its own to the Pacific by the thirty-second parrallel. Says that paper: "The Cairo and Fulton Railroad proceeds from the Missouri State line, via Little Rock, to the Texas State line, a distance of about 300 miles. It is a land grant railroad, being entitled to 2,000,000 acres. Twenty miles were completed on the 1st of January last and the remainder was under contract to be finished in 1873. Now that the Pennsylvania company has taken hold of the work, it will probably be completed in a much shorter time.

At the Texas State line the Cairo and Fulton Railroad will connect with the new Texas Pacific Railroad, which reaches through Southwestern Texas in the valley of the Rio Grande, along the thirty-second parrallel to San Diego, 400 miles south of San Francisco, and perhaps superior to the American capital of the Pacific coast as a seaport. It connects, at the Missouri State line, with the Northwestern network of railroads, controlled in whole or in part by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company."

The Oregon Herald discusses the "passive policy" advocated by many of its party. It isn't friendly to the movement and prefers running a Democrat to a Republican for President, but finally, in a spirit of accommodation it intimates that it will stand anything.

A WORD TO THE WISE IS SUFFICIENT.—Be it known to the People of Portland and the surrounding country, that at the extensive clothing establishment of John A. Bishel, 91 Front street, they are selling new and stylish suits for Fall and Winter wear at prices that are astonishingly low. Call at this House and examine the large stock of Clothing and Furnishing Goods. You will come away satisfied.

THE FIRST REPORT OF THE U. S. GRAND JURY has not been made, but all sorts of rumors are prevalent, and one especially, affecting the business prospects of one of our most enterprising merchants. It is currently reported that at a special meeting of the Jurors a sort of nova fear was had, and each told his experiences and of the things he had seen in Portland. The general impression was, that so far as their outward appearances were concerned, they could not be better improved than by handing some of the fashionably cut clothing for sale at Barman's. It was therefore unanimously resolved that all purchases of clothing and gents furnishing goods be made at the above named establishment, corner of Washington and Front streets.

VALUABLE AND RELIABLE.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" will be found invaluable to those exposed to sudden changes, affording prompt relief in cases of Coughs, Colds, etc. For Public Speakers and Singers and those who over-tax the voice, they are useful in relieving an Irritated Throat, and will render articulation easy. As there are imitations, be sure to obtain the genuine.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 15, 1871.

CITY.

THE SUFFRAGISTS IN CONVENTION.—The public knows how zealously the Great Suffragist Susan B. Anthony, has labored, and how zealously she has been seconded in this vineyard in the work of rousing the "citizen women" to an indignant realization of women's wrongs and man's aggressions. The public also knows how such labors finally culminated in a Woman's Suffrage Convention at Oro Fino Theater, yesterday afternoon; but, unless we tell the story, it might never be known how a reporter who, unfortunately, was and is not of the female persuasion, went to the Convention; how, being unprotected, he fell into perils from which he escaped only through the magnanimity of the aforesaid suffragists; how he was at once interviewed by an amiable suffragist who compassionated his evident bashful distress; nor how he acted upon a delicately insinuative suggestion and didn't stay long. We have decided, however, that the story must be told, if for no other purpose than to justify the reportorial zeal, industry and faithfulness of the aggressive man-representative of the press. He went, with paper prepared and pencil pointed, to take down such things affecting the weal of womankind as might be said and done by the indignantly realizing and mad'e-aggressiveness-defying women of the Convention. He entered the hall and found the Convention cozily assembled around a small table in the orchestra area, and very sensibly, in the neighborhood of one of the large stoves put up by the proprietors to create the delusion that the place is comfortably heated. The Convention was talking in mysteriously bated tones which sank to still more deeply mysterious whispers, as the reporter proceeded with timidly aggressive tread down the aisle—down the aisle toward the Convention. Then a deeply significant hushedness fell upon the Convention and the reporter, still advancing, his aggressiveness fast fading, heard no sound save the beating of his own heart. The Convention began to cast right and left, significant glances as if somebody had got into the wrong pew. Still not a movement, not a word from the Convention. The situation was trying, and getting momentarily more trying, while the reporter was vainly trying to frame in his mind some reasonable pretext for turning about and fleeing incontinently down stairs. A contiguous window tempted him, but remembering the Rink disaster, he didn't do it. There was but one recourse: Try blandishments, (he had but a poor stock,) and reportorial effrontery. He tried 'em. "Beg pardon," he said, "ladies—I just dropped in—hope I don't intrude," and then he lifted his hat to the Convention with such politeness as the dripping condition of that article of apparel would allow. That saved him. Immediately a suffragist arose, and meeting him just on the outskirts (so pure, "pon honor) of the Convention, suggested in the most politely insinuative manner that the Convention had just delegated her, to furnish the newspapers with the proceeding, as, this being the first time that some of the ladies had ever acted in the capacity of a Convention, they felt a little timid about exercising their Constitutional prerogative in the presence of gentlemen. That fixed the reporter, and with another blandishment or two he retreated as gracefully as the circumstances would allow, and without a visible sign of aggressiveness either in expression or demeanor. That reporter never before fully realized what degree of suggestiveness might lurk in a very delicate hint. He took it, however, and now, when the suffragists hold another Convention, the paper to which he is attached will have to look out for other reportorial talent.

COUNTY AFFAIRS.—At the late term of the County Court an order was entered levying a tax for the next year of seventeen mills on the dollar. Of this five mills is for State tax, two for school purposes, half a mill for military purposes, one and a half mill for buildings and repairs, and eight mills for county purposes. The aggregate valuation of property this year subject to taxation is $7,619,900, as determined by the Board of Equalization. On this basis the levy for next year should raise the sum of $129,538 30, less the delinquent taxes. Though no order has yet been made in the premises the Commissioners are agreed that about $5,000 should be expended in the spring upon the County Hospital, to make it such an institution as is demanded by existing circumstances; about $2,000 for an iron fence around the Court House block; and that the Court House itself shall be painted anew and of some more cheerful color. The estimate for painting has not been made, as it will depend more than either of the other proposed expenditures upon the views of bidders. An attempt was made in this direction two years ago but without results, for the reason that all bids but one were rejected as too high, and the person to whom the award was made finally declined to undertake the job. The Commissioners have made a high levy, because they found it necessary in order to keep the county out of debt till another levy and collection shall take place. They desired that the county should not fall into such a condition as it did a couple of years ago when the Commissioners, in order to make a good showing of taxation, made the levy so low that the county orders were for several months not paid for want of funds, and the county went on getting into debt. It is calculated that a 17 mills rate will pay all orders presented till the next year's tax shall be levied and collected. This, it is thought, will be far better, even though the rate seems high, than to make a small levy now for the sake of present appearances, and permit an indebtedness to accumulate against the funds of the succeeding year. The Commissioners have it in contemplation to provide for lopping off (by the use of the building fund) some of the present too large monthly expenses. For instance: the county pays $15 per month to the Water Co., an expenditure which can be saved by digging a well at a cost not much exceeding the aggregate of water bills for one year. The monthly gas bills amount to $50 to $70—this expense can be greatly reduced by the purchase of one of the Maxim gas machines, for instance. There has been no definite agreement among the Commissioners in this matter, and, as we said before, no orders have been entered in respect to the other proposed improvements—they have simply been talked over and the Commissioners have come to an understanding in regard to them.

THE PETALUMA MURDER.—The telegraphic dispatches, a few days since, contained mention of the fact that a Jewess named Flora Myers, had been arrested in San Francisco on a charge of being accessory to the murder of a man named Levy in Petaluma. The Petaluma Crescent of the 7th inst., gives the subjoined account of the savage assault and murder: "At about 9 o'clock Sunday evening last, as L. Levy, a hackman of this city, was leaning on the bar in the Blue Wing saloon, talking to some friends, Ben Edwards, a barber by trade, walked in, taking Levy by the shoulders, pushed him away, and at the same time struck him twice over the head with a ten-inch Colt's revolver. The second blow knocked him down. But not being satisfied with that, he struck him again. By this time the poor man, completely taken by surprise by the attack, cried murder, when some citizens standing near, rushed in and caught Edwards. We heard several say that they scarcely knew how to act, the striking was done so suddenly, and several persons thought it was merely a playful scuffle between the two, and until Levy cried murder were they satisfied to comprehend what Edwards meant. Doctors Christie and Caughle found the skull broken down on the brain on the back part of the right side of the head, and partial paralysis on the right side of the body. Brain was oozing out in one place. Eight pieces of skull were removed and the wound dressed, and the victim of this diabolical deed made as comfortable as circumstances would admit of, but his chances of recovery, one of the physicians informs us, are as one to fifty." The Jewess, Flora Myers, mentioned above and who has figured conspicuously in proceedings subsequent to the murder, is said to have been a former resident of this city.

GEOLOGICAL.—The Yale exploring party, consisting of six or seven young men attached to Yale College, who have been "doing" the Territories and Eastern Oregon in a geological and scientific sense, arrived in the city last night, and are quartered at the St. Charles. Soon after their arrival we called at the hotel, but upon being informed that they had already been interviewed by a representative of the press, we, from feelings of compassion for the sufferings they must have undergone during that taxing and painful ordeal, desisted from applying our suction pump.

STREET CLOSED.—Where South First street crosses Marquam's gulch there is a very deep fill, made during the past summer. The heavy rains of Sunday and Monday so softened the earth as to make it dangerous for teams, and on Monday, Street Commissioner Marshall caused the street to be barricaded.

MISAMONPROSED.—The ferry boat Carrie Ladd is undergoing a metamorphosis, and no more will she be pulled to and fro with a string. She is to be propelled by side wheels.

THE COURTS.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The Pixley Sisters, are organizing a new dramatic troupe for a tour of the Wallamet valley.

Bachelder's Panorama has gone from our gaze—was at Oregon city last evening and will go to Eugene.

The Wallamet river begins to show one of the late rains—its bosom was gently swelling yesterday.

The ladies of the Taylor street M. E. church will have a "Sociable" at the basement this evening. Charges twenty-five cents.

Wm. Wilson, the Kleptomaniac, waived an examination before Judge Denny, yesterday, and was sent before the grand jury.

Jesse Applegate, the "Sage of Youcalla," left by the steamer Monday evening for a visit to the Eastern States. He has been thirty years west of the Rocky Mountains.

DRUNK MAN DROWNED.—About one o'clock yesterday afternoon the body of a drowned man was found lying on the bottom of the river a few feet out from the wharf below the O. S. N. Co.'s warehouse. The water is very shallow at that place, and the body was but little more than covered. Some persons got into a boat and towed the body up to the beach in rear of the Cosmopolitan hotel, where it was recognized as that of John Snooh, or, as he was sometimes called, "Cookney Joe"—a stevedore. An inquest was held by Mr. Dryer, Coroner, Messrs. H. C. Dray, William F. Gallagher, William Sheppard, W. Conyon, P. Lovin, and Charles W. Allender being summoned as jurors. They returned the following verdict: "We, the jury, find that the deceased's name is John Snooks, a native of Brighton, England, and that he came to his death by drowning in the Wallamet river, Multnomah county, Oregon, on the 14th day of November, 1871." It appears the man was seen, drunk, at the Western Hotel, after 12 o'clock Sunday night, and it is supposed that about two o'clock yesterday morning, he went down to the bank and fell over. The water was not deep enough to drown him in any other than a prone position; so he goes upon the list as another victim of whisky.

ASSESSMENTS — LEGGANDS. — Last year the County Commissioners were pestered for months by petitions for reduction of assessments and rebate of taxes. It was thought this year, that as the Board of Equalization was in session a number of times for several days at a time, everybody must have had ample notice and time to appear for all necessary corrections. It seems, however, that, as usual, there were many laggards who paid no attention to their assessments till the list was finally closed, but who now want reductions made for indebtedness and sundry other reasons. We understand that the Commissioners will not, however, listen to these petitions except in cases where it is made to appear that mistakes have been made. If after repeated notices and several long sessions of the Board, parties failed to look after their assessments, they ought to stand the consequences, however unfavorable they may be. The lesson may, another year, be worth something to them.

MANSARD ROOF.—In view of the fact that our builders and architects are very partial to the Mansard roofs, and that every other building erected during the past season boasts of one of these roofs, the statement that the Mansard roof invited fire and added material to the Chicago conflagration is certainly of interest to this community. The lesson taught by the Chicago fire, it is to be hoped, adds a writer, will check the passion for Mansards which has controlled the architectural mind of this country for several years and which has resulted in the most astounding medley of building abominations conceivable. In a certain class of very large edifices, with sufficient stretch to warrant them, those roofs, if proof against fire, are sightly; but when it comes to a Mansard for everything from a church to a wood-shed, the general effect is rather tedious.

THE FINAL SCOLD.—Miss Susan B. Anthony is going to "add just one more remark" on the woman suffrage matter this evening at Oro Fino Theater. We are promised—in the advertisement—that this is Miss Susan's last say prior to leaving for the East. We felt satisfied, when she began, that she would have a last say, if the world would only hold out and to-night we are to get the final scold from that quarter; unless the great suffragist shall, like the theater people, conclude to add a "positively the last," and then a "most positively the last." After all, we don't know but we are glad that Miss Anthony came here, and that she has had her scold, if for no other reason than that it has shown how very harmless her mission has been.

"THE WEST."—This new paper that has been noticed by our cotemporaries, lies upon our table. It is a monthly, and is cheap enough, certainly, at one dollar per annum. It is to be devoted to the interests of the Pacific coast, give correct information concerning it, and is designed for extensive circulation in the East. So says the prospectus. Its columns will be open to Oregon correspondence, and it can be made to serve our interests as well as those of California. The next number will appear in January, and by means of an arrangement with the Real Estate Board, it is expected will begin the Prize Essay, for which $300 in gold coin was paid recently in this city. We learn that Mr. Joyslin of the Y. M. C. A. will act as agent.

REAL ESTATE COMING TO THE FRONT.—We are informed that real estate is again getting in good demand. Within the last ten days, one firm of agents in this city has sold near $60,000 worth, including five farms in Washington county. Prices are firm and somewhat advanced from those of last spring and summer. Considering the substantial and unprecedented growth of the city within the past season, we look upon it as certain that another considerable advance of values is only a question of brief time; and this is the opinion, we find, of many of the most sagacious men of the city.

A BAD DAY.—The contractor has nearly completed the G street dam across Couch's Lake, and the indications are that as a dam, it will be a success. The Council when it ordered the improvement did not provide for a sewer through which to drain the waters of the upper end of the old lake, or what will now be the pond. It was a bad mistake. Experience has proved that the new street fills hold water after every short time. This one fences off about two or three acres of pond which will be next summer as many acres of stink, fever and ague, billions fevers and such like pleasant things.

FOR THE PENITENTIARY.—Sheriff Warwick, of Union county, having in charge three prisoners sentenced at the late term of the Circuit Court for that county to the penitentiary, arrived in the city last night en route for Salem. The names of the convicts are Bartholemew, convicted of the crime of larceny, and sentenced for eighteen months; John Mocine, same crime, goes for the same period; Jack Sheppard, grand larceny, will be a guest of the State for the next three years. They will be taken to Salem this morning.

EXHIBITION DRILL.—The Washington Guard at its next anniversary celebration, will have an Exhibition Drill, showing the exercises of the manual now in use. This will make an interesting and pleasing exhibition. The boys are frequently, now a days, engaged in preparatory practice.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION.

PORTLAND, Nov. 14, 1871.

Pursuant to published notice, the advocates of Woman Suffrage assembled in Oro Fino Hall at 2 o'clock, P. M. Whereupon Mrs. Abbie B. Gibson was called to the Chair, and Miss Lottie Sloper appointed Secretary pro tem.

Mrs. Harriet W. Williams read the following resolution which was adopted:

We, the women of Portland, and Multnomah county, believing that we have the constitutional right to the elective franchise, and that it becomes our duty to use that right for the good of our country, do hereby form ourselves into an Association to secure consent of action in this important movement.

CONSTITUTION.

ARTICLE 1. This Society shall be called the Multnomah County Women Suffrage Association.

Art. 2. The object of this Association shall be to encourage such co-operation among women as shall annex them to assume their responsibilities as citizens of the United States.

Art. 3. All persons subscribing to this Constitution shall be considered members of this Association with right to participate in its deliberations.

ART. 4. The officers of this Association shall be a President, Vice Presidents, Corresponding Secretary, Recording Secretary, Treasurer and an Executive Committee of not less than three or more than five persons, the officers to be ex officio members of the Executive Committee.

Art. 5. The Board of officers shall have power to call meetings, draft resolutions, secure speakers, correspond with other societies and perform whatever duty is required to forward this important movement.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The permanent officers of this Association were elected as follows:

President—Mrs. Hattie M. Shanahan.

Vice Presidents—Mrs. Harriet W. Williams, and Mrs. I. R. Moores.

Recording Secretary—Miss Lottie Sloper.

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Sarah J. Rumsey.

Treasurer—Mrs. Sarah Williams.

Executive Committee—Mrs. Frances S. Law, Mrs. Sarah J. Peters, Mrs. Mary A. Thomson, Mrs. Mary C. Daly, Mrs. Abbie C. Gibson.

Miss Anthony offered the following resolution which was read and adopted:

Resolved, That we urge the friends of Woman Suffrage throughout the State to organize Associations in their respective towns and voting precincts; hold stated meetings for lectures and discussions; circulate tracts, speeches and newspapers; enroll the names of all women who will present their votes at the next election, and of all men who will give their influence to induce women to exercise their right to vote; and use every other moral means to encourage women to assume their rightful position as voters; and we respectfully solicit the judges of election to fulfill their duties in receiving and counting the votes of women citizens precisely the same as they do those of men.

On motion, Mrs. General Saxton was appointed as delegate and Miss Susan B. Anthony as assistant delegate to represent the Association at the coming National Woman Suffrage Convention at Washington.

On motion, a number of the ladies of the Association accepted an invitation to occupy a seat upon the platform upon the occasion of Miss Susan B. Anthony's last lecture in Portland, at Oro Fino Hall, on Wednesday evening, November 15th.

Mrs. Harriet W. Williams accepted an invitation from the President to introduce Miss Anthony to the audience at the lecture.

On motion the Society adjourned, to meet again at the will of the President and Executive Committee.

HATTIE M. SHANAHAN, President.
LOTTIE C. SLOPER, Secretary.

ANOTHER THEATRICAL RUMOR.—The San Francisco Alta of the 9th inst. has this item: "Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rea will pass the winter in Oregon, under engagement to play at the Oro Fino Theater. Mr. Rea will be the stage manager." We are disposed to think there may be some foundation for this announcement, as we know that a correspondence had been going on between the Oro Fino proprietors and Mr. Rea, the manager of the Metropolitan, where Mr. and Mrs. Rea played a recent engagement.

INCREASE OF CRIMINAL EXPENSES.—It will doubtless be astonishing to most persons that the expenses paid by this county in connection with criminal prosecutions, have reached the enormous sum of $2,000 or thereabouts. About $25,000 per year is the sum that Multnomah county is paying on account mostly of thieves, rustlers and petty criminals of Portland. It is a good healthy figure, but our information is authentic. This in part accounts for the heavy levy of taxes this year.

THE STORM.—We learn by the steamer Dixie Thompson from Astoria that on Monday the storm was one of the severest experienced for many years. A barn was blown over, turning out into the storm a number of cows, none of them, however, being injured, and some other damage was done to out-houses, signs, etc. South of us the storm was also severe. The telegraph was prostrate till a late hour yesterday, and at night was still down somewhere beyond Jacksonville.

CONTINUED AGAIN.—The case of "Wrestling Joe," under examination in the Police Court on the charge of perjury, was again continued yesterday morning on account of the illness of the defendant. It is understood to be continued from day to day till the ancient "Joe" shall be able to come to time.

LITTLE FOLKS' FAIR.—The children of Mrs. Church's Sabbath afternoon class, connected with the Taylor street M. E. Church, are preparing for a fair to be held on next Wednesday evening, November 22d, the proceeds to be applied for the relief of the Michigan and Wisconsin sufferers.

PRAYER MEETINGS.—Noon day prayer meetings continue to be held every day, commencing at 12 and lasting till 1 o'clock each week day, at the Taylor street M. E. Church. Members of churches of any denomination, strangers and non-professors of religion are cordially invited to attend.

WAITING FOR A BOILER.—Buchanan's tugboat Ben Holladay is nearly ready to run except that it has no boiler yet. That very necessary article for a steamboat has been for some time expected from San Francisco. After its arrival, the tug will be ready to go in a week.

TO BE RENOVATED.—The Armory of the Washington Guard is to be overhauled, repainted, redecorated and rejuvenated generally. It was always a pleasant assembly room, and after it gets its new dress on will be handsomer and more cheerful than ever.

DOGS.—In Washington Territory the Legislature has passed an act declaring that dogs are personal property and that it is larceny to steal them. In Portland the idea prevails that dogs are a nuisance and that it is meritorious to steal or even to kill them.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTION.—Mr. William Davidson, who seems to be ever alive to the best interests of our State, has furnished a compilation from the records of real estate transactions for the month of October. His list embraces fifty five transactions in this city and East Portland, the aggregate consideration amounting to $115,000.—Christian Advocate.

Attention, Emmet Guard!—You will meet at your Armory this evening, at 8 o'clock, sharp. By order of the Captain.

NEW YORK
LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY!
PURELY MUTUAL!
ASSETS ..... $17 000,000!
ISSUED 9,925 POLICIES IN 1870.
Insuring Over $27,000,000!
Wm. H. BEERS, Vice President and Actuary.
MORRIS FRANKLIN, President.

AMONG THE ADVANTAGES OFFERED BY THE NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY are:—

1st. PURE MUTUALITY, so that the entire surplus earnings over the actual cost of insurance is returned to the policy holders who are the only members.

2d. AGE, having been organized in 1845. It has the benefit of the experience of a quarter of a century, and members are thus guaranteed from all doubtful experiment in the method of conducting its business.

3d. STABILITY AND PERPETUITY shown by the accumulation of a capital of Seventeen Millions of Dollars, after paying all losses promptly, and returning large dividends to its members. It has now an income of over Seven Millions of Dollars, and the interest on its investments, with premiums on gold, &c., has been sufficient during the past two years to pay accruing losses.

4th. NON-FORFEITURE OF POLICIES. It originated the system of non-forfeiture of policies, and to it the public are indebted for a feature so favorable to the insured.

5th. SUICIDE does not cause a forfeiture of the policy, that being considered an evidence of insanity, and insanity the result of disease.

6th. DIVIDENDS. Its dividends are declared annually, and are available immediately as cash in payment of premiums. Many companies declare their premiums nominally, but do not pay them till several years thereafter; others defer their declarations for three, four or five years from the time the policy commences. In this Company a party always has a dividend which can be used in the payment of the second and all subsequent annual premiums.

7th. ITS DIVIDEND SYSTEM is the "Contribution Plan," by which each member is charged with the exact cost of his insurance, and receives back his surplus payments. These dividends can remain with the Company, participating in its earnings, and be used at any subsequent period in the payment of premiums.

8th. LIBERALITY IN SETTLEMENT OF LOSSES. Experience has shown that cases arise where policies, although LEGITIMATELY claims, are not LEGALLY so. The records of this Company bear many acknowledgements from widows and relatives of deceased members of its liberality and fairness in settlement of all such losses. There being no stockholders in the Company to share its profits, interests adverse to policy-holders cannot possibly arise, the Trustees simply occupying the position of arbitrators between the members, with no inducement to take from one and give to another.

ÆTNA
OF HARTFORD, CONN.
FOUNDED IN THE YEAR 1820.
Adopted Mutual System in the year 1861.
ACCUMULATED CAPITAL OVER ..... $16,000,000.
ITS ANNUAL INCOME OVER ..... 6,000,000.
WHOLE NUMBER OF POLICIES ISSUED TO DATE, NEARLY ..... 100,000.
NUMBER OF POLICIES ISSUED IN 1870 ..... 11,217.

THE ÆTNA RANKS AS ONE OF THE FIRST COMPANIES IN THE LAND!
IN INCOME, IN ASSETS, IN NUMBER OF POLICIES, IN AMOUNT INSURED, IN SOLIDITY AND STRENGTH, IN SOUNDNESS, CHEAPNESS, PROMPTNESS AND SUCCESS.

THE AMOUNT OF DIVIDEND A COMPANY CAN PAY ITS INSURED, DEPENDS UPON THE RATES charged for insurance, the AMOUNT of business done, the EXPENSE of doing it, the INTEREST on its investments, the CARE exercised in the selection of its risks, and the TIME when such dividends are paid. In regard to these, as also all other points, the ÆTNA is unsurpassed in advantages by any other Insurance Company in the United States.

The New York Insurance Monitor says of the Ætna:—"No Life Insurance Company ever achieved so complete a success as this popular institution. Its popularity is altogether unprecedented in the annals of commercial enterprise in this country."

The New York Independent says of the Ætna Life:—"It is to-day one of the soundest and most reliable Insurance Companies in the United States—every dollar of its assets well secured, more than providing for all liabilities, and it eminently deserves a still greater patronage and the unlimitating confidence of the public."

What Dyspepsia may End In.

Indigestion is not dangerous say the faculty. Perhaps not in itself, while it remains mere indigestion; but look at the consequences to which it may lead, and often does lead when it becomes a chronic disease. A spark of fire is a small thing. A pressure of the foot will put it out; a breath will extinguish it. Yet it may fire a powder mill, or kindle a flame that will consume a city. In like manner indigestion may produce gastritis, cancer of the stomach, congestion of the bowels, apoplexy, liver disease, and many other dangerous maladies. Is it not wise, then, to check it in the germ? Nothing is more clearly and indisputably established than that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will eradicate dyspepsia in all its stages. The true policy, however, is to extinguish it in the first stages with this wholesome, powerful, and infallible tonic and alterative. It is easier to quench a spark than a flame, and it is easier to cure dyspepsia when it is first developed than when it has made headway by neglect, and become complicated with other ailments. There is not the shadow of a doubt that the bitters are as directly antagonistic to dyspepsia as water is to fire. There are thousands of cases on record proving this fact. The remedy is safe and agreeable. All the liquors of commerce prescribed as stimulants leave a sting behind. But the sting is taken out of the spiritous basis of this great remedy by vegetable medication, and, moreover, the stimulant thus medicated is of exceptional purity. Of all tonics taken as safeguards or remedies for fever and ague, bilious remittent, and other fall epidemics, it is the only one that can uniformly be depended upon.

The following table shows the imports and exports of Breadstuffs into and from the United Kingdom since harvest—August 26th to October 14th—compared with the two previous years:

IMPORTS.	1871	1870.	1869.
Wheat, cwt	6,013,350	4,143,122	4,776,670
Barley	585,686	658,380	391,133
Oats	1,709,806	1,143,251	989,468
Peas	47,604	29,630	61,130
Beans	598,104	119,251	182,586
Corn	2,037,410	2,936,429	2,081,510
Flour	440,825	531,685	773,234
EXPORTS.
Wheat, cwt	625,090	370,914	1,146
Barley	1,466	1,414	1,146
Oats	9,624	101,801	1,721
Peas	681	24,901	711
Beans	255	150	—
Corn	1,719	12,852	1,011
Flour	9,133	311,804	2,699

It will be seen by the above statement that the imports of Wheat has increased 1,771,228 cwt and the exports 175,170 cwt; and that the imports of Flour shows a decrease of 87,860 cwt, while the exports of Flour shows a decrease of 302,531 cwt in comparison with the like period of 1870.

The recent heavy purchases of Wool in Australia, by Eastern and California buyers and manufacturers, naturally causes many conjecture as to the future result that market will have upon corn. Australia's Wool clip is placed at 200,000,000 lbs, which has heretofore, or at least the surplus, found a market in England. The following table gives the imports of Wool into the United Kingdom for the first nine months of the current year:

From—	1871.
Europe	37,252,240
South Africa	24,376,725
British India	10,468,894
Australia	172,638,988
Other countries	24,905,075
Total imports, lbs	275,740,922

Of this there were re-exported ..... 41,473 lbs. Our manufacturers East are sol... direct pur... in the Australia market to... ...ch-ing the same Wools in England after ship... ...Australia. The Australian Wools are very desirable for manufacturing, owing to its freeness from dirt, the length of staple and firmness of fiber, such as each commands extreme rates. That the majority of the Wool exported from Australia for the English market will be shipped via the continental railroad, is very generally conceded; and, also, that the Wool taken by our manufacturers on this coast and in the East only cuts off so much less importation from other supply ports, and in the end prices will not be materially changed. There are some who assert that in the events of the Australian Wools being shipped to the United States that prices as a consequence must decline, forgetting that the home of consumption must be supplied in Australia must necessarily be supplied from other points of supply, so that where one supply point is lost another is gained, which is the case now with Asia. The fine ports into Boston and New York for the first nine months of this year is in excess of the entire importation for any year, for several years past, and notwithstanding which, the stocks are light, owing to the consumption keeping pace with the imports. By a retrospect of the market the causes of the increased consumption and high prices now ruling is very apparent. The extraordinary increase in the consumption of Woolen fabrics during the civil war carried the price of Wool so high, as to greatly stimulate its growth, it being for the time the most profitable product of the farm. The war not only led to unwonted activity in the production of Woolen goods to take the place of Cotton goods among the masses, and also to clothe the army and navy, but also led to increased foreign importations, and as a consequence, at the close of the war the markets of the country were overstocked with all descriptions of foreign and domestic Woolen fabrics, that, with the stimulus withdrawn, prices fell heavily; and notwithstanding the curtailment of imports and production, the market for both Wool and the products continued to decline until Wool-growing ceased to be profitable, except in our State (Oregon), California and Texas. The increase tariff of 1869 was enacted at the request of the Woolen-growers, with the expectations that it would at once enhance the value of their staple and carry prices to a point that would remunerate them. Their expectations were not realized. Prices continued to rule so low that farmers in the West had no alternative but to slaughter their flocks. At the same time the high tariff had the effect to cement suspend the importation of Cape, South American and other kinds of ... Wools, and by turning upon European manufacturers forced prices there very low, which had the same effect upon Wool growers there as in the United States, only in a more overcoated form, for the low duties on Sheepskins caused a very general slaughtering of Sheep. In 1867 the import of Wool imported on the skin was equal to nearly one-half the quantity imported previous to 1866. During the present year, however, the importation of Wool on the skin has been prohibited by a high rate of duty. This, in connection with a reduced stock of Wools, is the foundation for the high prices ruling now. When this year's clip came on the market the stock of old Wools throughout the country was so nearly exhausted as necessarily to cause large drafts to be made on foreign countries, which is the cause of our late ... importations. The large increased demand for Wool in France, Germany and England has caused prices to advance there. At the London public sale last month, the bidding is represented to have been very spirited, and prices advanced. A London commercial journal remarks as follows:

"Scoured, Cape, Natal, Australian, and Cape may be quoted 2d. to 3d. and Greasy at 1d. advance on closing rates. The chief competition has certainly been on the part of the French trade, but both French and German buyers have also ... led to a fair extent, and the American ... bought pretty freely. Taken altogether, ... pretty free buyers of really good light greasy Wool up to 1s. 3½d. per lb. Above this price the extra duty acts as an almost prohibitory bar to business. Cross-bred Wools, owing to the scarcity and high prices of domestic ... are much in demand, and realize full rates. The present demand arises apparently from the actual ... wants of consumers, which are not likely to be filled until the new clip arrives next spring; there is no ... in a ... way to satisfy ... and to check it would ... continue on as sound a footing as of late, and next clips show no increase in the Colonies or the River Plate, it is more than probable that there will be even further improvement, although of course at the present high range of prices, some caution is advisable, as any political or monetary complication might exercise a very prejudicial effect. The quantity available for next series of sales in Nov. is unofficially estimated to exceed 60,000 bales, which quantity, the bulk are Cape Wools, being 10,000 odd bales against 10,000-odd (exact import amount) from Australia."

The Walla Walla Union says: "It is now estimated that there is over three hundred tons of grain at Wallula awaiting shipment. This amount is stored in warehouses and there is no more room for storage in the place. In addition to this there are from twenty to fifty teams that are ... there daily ... for unloading. ... teams have to take their turn and stand in line—sometimes for twenty-four hours at a time. Shipment from this place to Wallula has slackened greatly, as it is feared that all the produce now stored in Wallula cannot be sent below before navigation closes."

Nov. 10th—James H. Bodler to C. B. Comstock, lots 5 and 6, block 210 $2,000.

Merchandise Market.

WHEAT—The market is characterized by no new feature. Receipts continue liberal, but only lots purchased sometime ago as the difference in views of holders and shippers do not allow of any sales at present being made. The telegraph was not working to-day, but private dispatches received late last night gave market in San Francisco weak at $2 50 per cental. We quote market here at $2 30@2 38 per cental, sacks to delivery, but straight lots of choice by the spot would command more.

FLOUR—Trade is dull. We have been informed that We Kee & Co., who have chartered the ship Wm. ... to load for China here secured 4,000 bbls. We quote market firm at $7 50 @ bbl, for extra, and $8 50@7 00 @ bbl for superfine.

OATS—The demand is active with light receipts. We quote market firm at $2 45@2 65 @ cwt, sacked.

POTATOES—Demand active with market firm at $1 60 @1 65 @ ... for Oregon.

MIDDLINGS—Since our last quotations jobbing rates have been advanced to $45@47 50 @ ton.

BRAN—In sympathy with advance of middlings it is quoted in jobbing lots at $25@30 @ ton.

HAY—Receipts fair and market in consequence weaker at $20 @ ton for best quality of Timothy baled.

OIL CAKE MEAL—Quotable higher with a firm market at $47 50 @ ton in jobbing lots.

EGGS—Some of the dealers are only offering from 50@55c @ doz, while sales have been made at 60c.

FISH—The receipts of Cod at San Francisco for this season with all the catch to ... 372,000. The catch of Salmon on the Columbia river we are unable, as yet to give. John West & Co., at Westport, on the lower Columbia have put up this season 3,000 bbls and 6,000 cases Salmon.

RAILROAD LANDS.

OFFICE OF LAND DEPARTMENT,

OREGON & CALIFORNIA R. R. CO.

AND

European and Oregon Land Co.,

PORTLAND, OREGON, August 1, 1871.

THE COMPANY IS NOW PREPARED TO EXTEND the pre-emption privilege of purchasing Railroad Lands in advance of the same being placed in market to all parties desirous of securing them on the following terms:

The applicant filing in this office a claim in the form prescribed, to wit:

Pre-emption, ... date, No. ——.

To the Land Agent of the European and Oregon Land Company:

Sir—You are hereby notified that I have settled upon and improved (description of land) in the county of State of Oregon, containing —— acres, and that I claim a pre-emption right to purchase said lands at the Company's valuation in accordance with the following resolution of the Directors of said Company, adopted on the twenty-sixth day of May, A. D. 1871, to the terms of which I hereby fully assent:

Resolved, That the parties settling upon and improving any of the lands of the European and Oregon Land Company, before the same are opened for market, shall be entitled to the pre-emption privilege of purchase on the same terms as the Company would sell the land for without improvement, and shall be subject to the same conditions of payment, as all other lands belonging to the Company, when brought into market; provided such settlers shall file in the Land Office of said Company, written application, giving notice of such settlement, and shall accept the privilege upon the conditions that when the price of the land shall be fixed, notice thereof shall be sent by the Company's Land Agent, through the Postoffice, or otherwise, as may be convenient, to the residence of the party claiming the pre-emption privilege, and if the lands not purchased by the said party within sixty days from the date of such notice, the Company will be at liberty to sell the land to any other person."

..... (Name of applicant.)

..... (Postoffice address.)

When the application is received, a certificate, signed by the Agent, obligating the Company to the terms, will be sent to the claimant in the following form:

PRE-EMPTION CERTIFICATE, No. ——.

This is to certify that ..... of ..... county, State of Oregon, has this day filed in this office a pre-emption claim to (description of premises), and is hereby entitled to the first privilege of purchasing said land at the Company's valuation, (which is to be made without reference to improvements) when the same shall be placed in market, in accordance with a resolution of the Board of Directors of said Company, adopted May 26, A. D. 1871.

When the price of the above described land is fixed, notice thereof will be sent to the party to whom this Certificate is issued, and if the land is not purchased by the party within sixty days from the date of said notice, the Company will be at liberty to sell the land to any other person.

(Signed) ..... Land Agent of the E. & O. Land Co.

The lands will be appraised by a competent, disinterested party, under oath, at their actual present value—no fancy or prospective price on the basis of similar lands in the vicinity; and when appraisement is made they will be sold in quantity not exceeding one hundred and sixty acres to one person, payable in five equal annual instalments, with interest from date of contract, at ten per cent. per annum; principal and interest payable in United States Legal Tender Notes. Warranty deeds given after United States Patent issues, upon payment in full.

Blank forms of application furnished upon request.

J. R. MOORE,
Land Agent.
